THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

The surprise of last week was the quiet marriage on Monday morning last of Cornelius Van-derbilt, ir., to Miss Grace Wilson. To be sure, every person was fully aware that the young peowould be made man and wife as soon as young Vanderbilt's condition permitted, but so well arded was the date of the nuptials kept that few any of the most intimate friends of the co informed that the ceremony was to take ce when it did. Only the immediate members e bride's family now in this country, and ink Polk, of Boston, who attended Mr. Vanderst man, and Robert B. Van Cortlandt, an ate friend of the family, were present to witthe ceremony, which took place in the rear n the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Richard T. Wilson, at Fifth-ave, and Forty-The rooms were modestly decorated with ers of American Beauty roses, lilles, gladiolas stions, but there was not a single note of or was the bride attended by maid of honor idesmaids. Miss Wilson, in the gown made adding as first announced, entered the room white satin, the skirt made with long train and immed with ruffles of exquisite point d'Alençon de with ruffles of exquisite point d'Alençon A cape of the same lace covered the ers, and from a wreath of diamonds, placed upon the head, fell in graceful folds almost hem of the skirt a veli of point lace. At the the bride wore a heart brooch, composed the diamonds, surrounding an immense re, a present from the bridegroom. A clustilles of the valley and white orchids formed that bouquet. The bridegroom, his best man, in as the bride's father, her two brothers—Wilson and Richard T. Wilson, jr.—and her w. Robert Goeiet, jr., and Mr. Van Corteach wore a boutonniere of lilles of the vallaff an hour after the ceremony Mr. and vanderbilt, having received the congratulatof those present, entered the Wilson hum, which carried them to the Grand Centation, where they boarded the train for some it is understood they will remain for some it is understood they will remain for some it is said, on good authority, that Mr. Vantel, will not take his bride abroad just yet, at ate. Announcement cards to the number of a hundred were sent out by Mr. and Mrs.

The summer dulness in the fashionable part of New-York was more marked than ever last week, then few members of the gay world were seen in onico's or in the places usually frequented by eparture of the New-York Yacht Club fleet for receptions, picnics and dinners. The meeting-place will be on Narragansett-ave. The route will be the same as last year, with the review at Graves Point, after which luncheon will be served at the Golf Club. There will probably be ten or a dozen coaches in line, and there is no doubt at all that the show is far more interesting and effective in Newport than it is in Central Park. It is now thought that the coaches of W. Watts Sherman, Theodore A. Havemeyer, Prescott Lawrence, J. D. Roman Baldwin, Harold Brown, James J. Van Alen, Perry Belmont, Nathaniel Thayer, Robert Gerry and several others will be in line.

THE THIRD TICKET MOVEMENT.

ITS EXPEDIENCY SHOWN.

No one can question the motive which led to the third ticket movement, albeit there are those, of course, who question its expediency. We think, however, that the need of real Democratic candidates was amply demonstrated at the conference. There are thousands of Democratis who disapprove of Bryan and the Chicago platform whose opposition to Republicanism is so deep scated that they would probably vote for Bryan in preference to Mc-Kinley were there no sound-money candidate in the field. From The Brooklyn Eagle.

IT WILL WEAKEN BRYAN.

From The New-York Times.

If sound policy and National well-being are the end and aim of party organization, and not the mere machinery of management, then it will have a higher stamp of regularity than the combination of Populisis and renegades who adopted the Chicago platform and ticket. While this view gives the movement a party aspect in the higher sense of the movement a party aspect in the higher sense of the term, it will not endanger the sound-money cause as a National issue, for it will be supported by Democrats as such, and will draw many more votes from Bryan than it will keep from McKinley.

A SERIOUS DRAWBACK.

From The Galveston News. From The Galveston News.

The most serious drawback in the work of promulgating a campaign of sound-money Democrats for the defeat of Bryan by the election of Mc-Kinley is found in an excessive and highly inopportune solicitude of sound-money Democratic leaders to provide the framework of a distinct leader organization for service more especially in State and local elections.

TO SUPPORT M'KINLEY THE BEST WAY. From The Washington Post.

From The Washington Fost.

The sound-money Democrats cannot afford to imperil the cause of the single standard by helping to defeat Altgeld in Illinois or by joining the faction opposed to Blackburn in Kentucky. There is a vast deal of selfshness and plaue in many of these local secessions from the Democratic party. They should not be encouraged at the cost of the common welfare. Thus we say we are prepared to believe that Mr. Cleveland does not approve the expedient of the third ticket. The way to beat Bryan is to vote for McKinley, and every rational creature knows it.

NO THIRD TICKET WANTED.

Let there be no division among the friends of sound money, but a most energetic, enthusiastic, courageous and effective union of forces all along the line. This is the pathway to victory, and every good citizen in every State in the Union, no every good citizen in every State in the Union, no every good citizen in every State in the Union, no exert what his previous political views and affiliations may have been, should energetically and uncompromisingly walk therein.

THE HOTTEST AUGUST 8 ON RECORD.

Four days in succession on which the ther mometer has risen to the height of 90 degrees or over is the experience of New-Yorkers for the last ecles that they sent out Thursday night. There poured down on the city on the three preceding days. On the contrary, it was worse than it had been at any time this year. When the thermometer in the office of the Weather Bureau, more than 350 feet above the level of the street, rises to 92 degrees it is time for remarks. It is also time for everybody to get out of town who can by any the warning of the prophets had been heeded, for in the afternoon every soul who had no business in the city for to-day betook himself to some seaside or mountain resort. The desertion of the streets uptown made a stray Philadelphian who happened into the city feel quite at home. He said he did not feel homesick in the least. Previously he had no idea that New-York was so delightfully quiet. Downtown the exodus began soon after noon, and what little business was

Up in Seventy-first-st., near the Hudson River which should be one of the coolest parts of the city, within the space of one block, there lay dead a horse, a dog and a cat. There would also have been a man, but he was taken to hospital. The dogs of the city were more unfortunate than any of the other animals, for many that would not have died from the heat were shot by policemen as soon as they manifested their discomfort.

IT WAS A RECORD-BREAKER. It will be little satisfaction to the sweltering thousands to know that vesterday was a recordbreaker. Yet such is the fact. Yesterday was gree, but it was also the hottest August 8 in the history of the Weather Bureau. August 8, 1894, held the record heretofore. On that day the mercury rose as high at 90 degrees. But yesterday it stood at 92 degrees at 2:45 o'clock. The humidity was not so great as on Friday. At 8 o'clock in the morning it was only 78 per same hour. It rose a bit in the middle of the day, but it was not excessive at any time. Early in the forenoon there was a slight breeze, but that soon died away, and inside Sandy Hook there was not enough wind to ruffle the water. Occasionally, in the course of the day, thunder-caps were to be seen on the northwestern horizon, and the optimistic hoped for

NO IMMEDIATE RELIEF PROMISED. The Tribune has a melancholy duty to perform in recording the fact that the end of the hot wave is apparently not yet in sight. It cortinued to be excessively warm in the West yesterday, and what the Western cities are getting seems likely to be our fate. The official thermometer in Kansas City again registered the wilting figure of 102 degrees, while St. Louis was a close second, with 100 degrees, and other cities west of the Mississippl were all like ovens. There were thunderstorms in the lake regions, but they did not cool the air to any great extent.

Mr. Dunn was obliged to say last night that the warm weather would continue to-day, and perhaps longer. As to that, he could not tell.

August Rich, thirty-eight years old, of No. 218 East One-hundred-and-third-st., was sent to the Harlem Hospital.

Harlem Hospital. DEATH FROM HEAT IN A CELLAR. Joseph Ulmer, sixty years old, of No. 334 East

One-hundred-and-fourteenth-st., while suffering from the effects of the heat wandered into a cellar at No. 352 East Ninety-first-st. yesterday afternoon and was found there dying last night. Some children playing about the place in the afternoon saw the an go into the cellar. About 8 o'clock Mrs. Schmit, the janitress of the tenement, heard a noise there, went down and found the man lying near the back wall gasping for breath. Policeman Kennedy, of the East Eighty-eighth-st. station, was summoned and sent for an ambulance, but the man died before it arrived. The body was taken to the East Eighty-eighth-st. station.

Ulmer was an engineer in a meat-chopping establishment in Ludlow-st., near Suffolk. The temperature of the engine-room on Thursday was 127 degrees. Ulmer was overcome then and has been sick since. He returned to work on Thursday and worked in the hot engine-room for a time, but was compelled to go home sick. He insisted on going to work yesterday because his assistant had been also overcome by heat. It is supposed he left his work early and was wandering about crazed by the heat.

MANY DEATHS FROM HEAT IN THE WEST. THE ALMOST UNPRECEDENTED TEMPERATURE CAUSES GREAT SUFFERING.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Six dead and thirteen pros-trated is the record of heat victims yesterday. The heat was more appressive than on Thursday, although the temperature did not reach the 99 mark. The degree of humidity in the atmosphere was ex-tremely high, and to this condition was due the large list of victims reported to the police. There were three deaths at Peoria, where the temperature rached 96. Alton reported a temperature of 106 and Centralia 103. Other points reported similar high records, but no fatalities.

St. Louis, Aug. 5.—There is no cessation of the intense heat from which St. Louis has suffered during the last ten days. At noon to-day the mercury registered 95 degrees on surface ther-mometers. Nearly all contractors have abandoned outdoor work. Owing to the high temperature work in the quarries and other exposed places has been suspended. For the twenty-four hours ended been suspended. For the twenty-four hours ended at noon to-day forty-seven cases of heat prostra-tions were reported at the City Hospital. Fifteen fatal cases are recorded. Reports this morning from nearby points in Missouri state that the mercury is close to the 100 mark, and in many sec-tions harvesting is suspended. Kansas City, Aug. 8.-All previous records of the Weather Bureau at this point were broken by that made yesterday, when the thermometer in the shade in the lofty top floor of the Rialto Building registered at 3:15 p. m. just 102.2 degrees, two-tenths of one degree above the highest point reached since July 1, 1888, when the local office was opened. There were several prostrations, but HEAVY LOSS BY HAIL IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 8 (Special).-A severe ter-st., between Worth-st. and Park Row. He was dead when an ambulance arrived from the Hudson Street Hospital. His home is unknown. loss is from one million to a million and a quarter bushels.

BY BALLOON TO THE POLE.

ANDREE'S PREPARATIONS FOR HIS PER-ILOUS JOURNEY.

Prices House, Danes Island, Spitzbergen, July 15—We left Advent Bay late in the evening in the small steamer Express, which we had towed behind us from Hammerfest, and Wete 800n out of zight of the tents of the Conway and Swedish expeditions that have their headquarters at Advent Bay. Once outside the flord and clear of the lee, we steamed up outside Prince Charles foreland, for we heard the tee still blocked the sound. We had a rising gale behind us, and our small boat rolled and plunged and rolled, till everything and everybody—there were seven of us in her small two-berthed cabin—got adrift. Next Bay the sea was so high that we did not like to rick the shouls of the sound gut, but steered on to Daneogat, where we ran into sheltered water. A few minutes steaming and we sighted the masts of a steamer, which proved to be Andrée's ship, the Virgo. We had not expected to find him at Pikes House, but on Amsterdam Island, however, when he arrived on Saturday, June 20, he found no sufficiently sheltered place there for his balloon house, so decided to stay here.

Soon after our arrival we went on board with From The London Daily News.

stored and then weighed before being attached to the inflated balloon. To release the balloon a V-shaped opening will be cut in the shed, and so arranged that directly the word is given the whole plece can be pulled out and the balloon will start. This pulling out of the V-shaped plece is the only thing that Andrée has not yet tried. Everything else has been fully tested.

Below the house lies the balloon, but still wrapped up. However, M. Lachambre, the manufacturer, has given me a plece of it. It is of threefold slik with gutta percha, exceedingly strong. The netting is of best Italian hemp, Indeed, there is scarcely a country that has not furnished something for the expedition. England has sent the compressed steel
